Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres.
Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hunnewell of Oxford were guests of Fred and Marion Sunday.

Margaret Mitchell has had a telephone installed.
The Jordans were at camp several days. He cut some brush around his place.

School vacation at Errol is being enjoyed by the youngsters this week. Bicycles are much in evidence.

Marilyn Brennon entered Rumford Hospital for an operation this week.

Saturday night the northern lights put on a beautiful show.
Some fighter planes have been flying low over the area recently.

Fred and Marion attended Excelsior Grange meeting in Poland Saturday night. The National Grange Lecturer was an honored guest at that meeting.

Laurens Lavalley sold his truck and has purchased a chopper motorcycle.

Several police and sheriff officers were in town recently.

Frank Spinney of Portland called on his sister this week. He recently returned from California where he spent the winter with a son.

The part of Europe that I saw was very clean. Everyone is out, rain or shine, on Saturday, to clean and spruce up their community, roadsides and cemeteries, from community spirit and pride as well as custom. Another admirable custom is putting waste out on collection day with non-reusables such as cans, or containers and food wastes in bags, but reusable or repairable items including furniture, furnishings and toys are stacked neatly on the sidewalks, for whoever wants it. On collection day folks of all ages travel around by whatever means they have, many of them pedestrians, pulling large carts, and they take home anything which appeals to them that they can use. I saw no signs of dumps, burning or otherwise, but a hill, or large mound, was pointed out by a tour guide who said it was created by waste piled there from carts, wheelbarrows and buckets full and covered with dirt and seeded. I came home with far more questions than I left with.

We are promised daily that warm, sunny weather will be here within hours. So far, it's a forecasters dream but not a reality. The snow cover has mostly receded.

For a few years, Newry and Upton have joined in a sunrise service and breakfast, but this year, some of the few Uptonites made other plans or would be unable to attend so a service was held at Mother Walker Falls with breakfast at Owen Wight's home.

Margaret Mitchell has returned from Florida and is spending some time at her camp.

We spent Saturday night at Farmington and attended the 5 a. m. sunrise service there. We did not see the sun rise but praised the Lord for his supreme gift by Grace while standing on new fallen snow under heavy cloud cover.

Some other Easter doings are not mentioned because either I've not been informed or so many folk do not want their names mentioned.

WEST BETHEL UNION CHURCH
From the sermon by Bert Griffith, Pastor, West Bethel Union Church:

Resurrection and Conversion
Perhaps the conception of conversion is best explained by reflecting on what it is not: Thousands feel that they are converted, but upon examination, we realize that we do not even speculatively know what real conversion is.

Changing from one religious system to another is not conversion, nor from one church to another. With no thought given to Jesus Christ, this is merely conversion from one persuasion to another. A conversion from one doctrinal position to another is not real conversion, because it is not a spiritual conversion that will bring a soul to heaven. Some think reforming themselves is conversion, and though this may be a very worthy and sincere effort to bring about a new and changed regard for morality, they still may be unconverted.

John 3:3 tells us that a man must be converted from his own righteousness to the righteousness of the Lord. Jesus is saying, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God." And he goes on to say in verses 18 and 19, that anything short of a vicarious trust in Christ is but a shadow instead of substance. "He that believeth in him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil." Conversion means a man is turned from hell to heaven and from the world to God.

The evidence of this conversion is best explained in II Cor. 5:17, "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." Only the spirit of the living God can effect this change; not moral persuasion and certainly not man's free will.

There is still time to convert. Would you not do for your soul what you would do for your body? People may laugh, and you may think this is not the right time, but tomorrow may be too late.

Think—Repent—Be converted to Christ. Be converted and prove that your sins are blotted out. Accept nothing less than the Christ of the Scriptures. Accept nothing less than His pardon. We speak and think of this Easter season. Christ suffered and died for you. It was for you—not an empty ideal. We can, by being converted to Christ, enjoy the resurrection.

(Bethel Emergency Ambulance & Rescue Service)

This week we would like to devote our column to "The Do's and Don'ts of Emergency Medical Services." Please clip this out and save for future reference.

Before a Medical Emergency Happens:
Do: Learn your emergency ambulance telephone number. Write it down.

Do: Write down clear directions to your house and keep them near the telephone.

Do: Support improved emergency medical services in your community.

Do: Take a course in first aid.

When a Medical Emergency Happens:
Do: Call your emergency ambulance at once. Don't hang up until the dispatcher tells you to.

Talk clearly and make sure you are understood. Answer all the dispatcher's questions. Remain calm. What number are you calling from? What is your full name? What is the location of the injured or ill person? Tell what you think is wrong with the injured or ill person.

Do: Make the location identifiable. Turn on a porch light, day or night; position a vehicle in front of the house with four-way flashers operating; in rural areas, put a pillow over your mail box or a chair beside it, try to have someone available to meet the ambulance.

Don't: Move the injured person unless fire, explosion or building collapse might threaten his or her life.

Do: Maintain an airway. Be sure no obstruction interferes with the person's ability to breathe.

Do: Control severe bleeding with direct pressure on bleeding area.

Do: Start cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) only if you have determined that the person is not breathing AND his heart has stopped functioning; most importantly, DO NOT start CPR unless you are trained to do so.

Don't: Give anything by mouth. Do: Stay with the injured person until the ambulance personnel arrive.

Do: Give the right-of-way to the ambulance and other emergency vehicles.

Don't: Block traffic; and park away from the scene of an accident.

Do: Stand back from scene of accident so that ambulance and rescue personnel will have room to work.

Don't: Smoke near or around the scene of an automobile accident.

Do: Stay away from fallen electrical wires at the scene of an automobile accident.

We can become a part of it, and we can do it beginning now.

HOWE ATTENDS LIBRARY
CONFERENCE IN AUGUSTA
Stanley R. Howe of Bethel was an active participant in the Maine White House Conference on Libraries held in Augusta, April 17-19. As one of 100 delegates from across Maine, Howe helped formulate policy recommendations to be considered in Washington
at the National White House Conference on Libraries in October.
Seven delegates were selected to represent Maine at the nation's capital.

The Maine Conference was part of a national effort to involve lay citizens in addressing the issues
and needs for improved library services and to focus public awareness of the importance of libraries in the lives of the country's citizens.

In hand during the three day event to emphasize the need to strengthen support for the nation's libraries and to endorse the work of the conference delegates were Maine's U. S. Senators, Edmund
Muskie and William Cohen, Gov.
Joseph Brennan, U. S. Commissioner of Education Ernest Boyer, and John Berry, editor of the Library Journal.

The resolutions committee drafted 54 items to be considered by the delegates on the final day of the conference. These included a statewide borrower's card, a periodic survey of library needs of the communities, a public awareness campaign, compulsory courses in library and media use to the curriculum, and a marine teaching program as a requirement for teacher certification, and a concerted effort to support full funding for the L.D. 166, which calls for an additional 35 cents per capita in additional state aid for library services.

Noted Maine author and columnist Bill Caldwell, who chaired the conference, called the session "extremely productive—a real grass roots effort by Maine people to highlight the significance of the state's libraries—public, private,
and academic—as a primary resource of learning for all Maine citizens. Too often libraries have been taken for granted. This conference has rightfully placed the library in proper perspective as a community service just as essential as police, fire, and school departments.

FROM THE TOWN OFFICE

fice, a lunch room, showers and wash rooms for the department.
The building should be heated by passive solar energy techniques.

3. A separate storage facility for salt should be built. Parking, and storage of supplies such as culvers, curbing, signs, etc. should be provided in secure and convenient places on the lot.

4. The new highway garage should contain all other town vehicles; or

5. be planned in such a way that it is capable of expansion to provide complete facilities for the department, and the vehicle storage needs of the police and other town departments.

6. The present town garage should be examined by a professional facilities planner to determine how it might be further utilized by the town. Possibly it could serve as an interim facility for the Bethel Ambulance Service.

7. The present fire station should eventually be renovated to provide municipal office facilities and police department offices, and a communications center for use by the town and its Civil Emergency Preparedness organization.

8. If Bethel Bisee School is vacated by M. S. A. D. #44, the town should acquire the building and the land on which is located;
the land as recreation space, the building to be studied for possible community use.

9. In anticipation of the consolidation of town facilities on Cross Street, the municipal officers should develop plans for upgrading Cross Street and making the entrances to Rts. 2 and 26 safer and more convenient for town vehicle use.

10. The town should acquire options to purchase land required
to facilitate town services.

11. The program of construction laid out above would obviously take place over a number of years.
A new, expanded facility for the highway department is the most pressing need. When it is met, the needs of the other protective services should be filled by priorities to be established at the time detailed planning is begun.
then the needs of the town administration should be met. Acquisition of space at Bethel Bisee School will depend for its timing on decisions of M. S. A. D. #44.

12. The Bethel Recreation Board is presently developing their own five year plan for town recreation facilities. While it is not anticipated that any building will be required, recreation programs will be an important function in the town, and should be considered in the planning of any facility the town undertakes.

After a short discussion, the Board thanked the Committee for a job well done and scheduled a workshop session on May 15 to discuss the report in detail with the committee.

The Selectmen reviewed bids for a dump truck chassis and the recommendation of the Highway Foreman and Town Manager, the bid was awarded to O'Connor Motors for an amount of $23,643.46.
This bid was the lowest bid coming closest to the requested specifications. Other bids were received from Ripley and Fletcher Co., $23,359; Auburn Motor Sales, $23,
773; Morrison Motors Inc., $26,400;
and Morrison and Sylvester, Inc., $27,134.24.

The Selectmen voted to hold a public hearing at their next meeting, May 14, to make the present landfill hours permanent. Present hours are Monday, 12 noon to 4 p.m.; Thursday, 1 noon to 4 p.m.;
Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The landfill is closed Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

The Manager reported to the Board that he had talked with a representative of the Canadian National Railroad and that they will be making improvements to the Main St. (Rte. 26) crossing within the next two or three weeks.

A request from Oxford County Community Services to hold a flea market/fair at the West Bethel School some week end this summer to raise seed money for Children's programs was approved.

The Selectmen approved the Manager's appointment of Grover Young as Labor Foreman in the Highway Department with a standard six-month probationary period.

A group of citizens came before the Selectmen to express their opposition to a proposed "bottle club" in the "Wherehouse" building on Railroad Street. They requested that the Board advise them
of what could be done to prevent or regulate such an operation.

The Selectmen directed the Manager to discuss the matter with the Town's legal counsel and report back by May 15.

In other actions, the Board appointed Frank Murphy as a Special Police Officer, signed previously made appointments, voted to support proposed legislative bills
concerning solid waste, approved
a pole permit for Central Maine Power Company, and voted to authorize the Town Manager to hire
an attorney to represent Robert Stearns and the Town in the case involving the assault of Mr.
Stearns on April 22, 1979, if it was felt necessary after consultation with the Town's civil attorney.

The next meeting of the Selectmen will be Monday, May 14.
The Airport Advisory Committee will meet this evening April 26 at 7 p.m. in the Town Office.

Greenwood City — West Bethel

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. —

In the light that appeared across the landscape, the rays of the rising sun grew stronger. I watched them cross the valley, probe among the bare treetops and on to the ridge of the other dawns which had come to April skies. But to me it seemed to hold a new quality of its own, a new freshness and beauty. To have the sun shine again after so many clouds made the world more inviting.

A song sparrow sang from a bush top and high in the maple the purple finch added his song to the morning.

In the pond was reflected a few clouds. We watched the ducks swim and dive.

Beneath our window a red and a gray squirrel nosed about searching for a few sunflower seeds that may have dropped from the feeder.

It was a world of beauty, of sunrises, sunsets, spread around us. Everywhere there lay brightness, wonder and interest in nature's world which has been functioning since when? Timeless time? And it has endured. What a lovely morning!

One-third of spring now—so soon, is gone.

Of course on such a day, I just had to see spring from the hills up back. So after I checked the daffodils' heads by my driveway to see how far the buds had developed I started up the Bulldozer Road. Thanks to daffodils and Jonquils which are arbiters between weather's heats and colds. Their cups and saucers too, are full of gold scatterings what they cannot hold to bring "sunshine" to us.

I found myself breathing slowly and deeply, savoring the freshness of the air.

I stopped to look for my skunk cabbage which I did not find last spring but later noticed. Too much snow today to show.

In places I had to detour because of snow drift or water.

At the end of the road I crossed the fence into the fields to climb to the path that leads to the brook.

In the first field there sat the would be weather prophet, the woodchuck, in a motionless pose, bolt upright. I watched it for a few minutes then as I moved, it went into its hole on the hillside. The passageway is dug deep down and usually slanted upward to prevent the rain from entering.

Moving on to field two, I stood beside a mound of rocks and listened to the singing of two sparrows. The chipping sparrow rode the head of a dried mullein stalk. On and on went the dry one pitch song. The song sparrow's clear-toned trill from a bush ended then began again.

From field number three I just had to take a picture of the hills and lovely cloud formations. They seemed to tell me to come up higher; the air is rarer; the sky bluer. But who knows a mountain? One who has trod its cloud swept summits?

I crossed below the lilacs and went through the snow covered trail to the brook with its low murmur and small gurgles in the section of smoothly running water. Below was the sound of tiny cascades walled in by a bank as it rushed over and among stones. Rocks are the instruments on which flowing water plays.

Back again, I inspected the lilac bushes and the surroundings plus the mountains again.

Then down the hills I returned, crossed the fence, once more found winter snows, then on to my home.

The day slipped away as fast as any other. So when appeared the time of fading tinted light I wished it could cling to this day. But the light faded and the day went. Before I awoke in the morning another change may appear.

This has been a busy week with lawn raking, garden cleaning, putting up bird houses, cleaning house and visiting.

On Monday, there was a fire at Carl Curtis's house on Hayes Hill. The fire department was there in time to keep it confined to the basement.

On Wednesday Ann Holt took her mother to Boston to see the eye specialist. They visited friends in Portland on the way back and had supper with them.

Doris Hayes and I met with the T. T. Group of teachers at Lettie

Plans are being made to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the Newry Community Church this summer. The church was built in 1904. Much labor and materials were donated to help keep the church was raised by donations and by suppers, fairs and ice cream sales put on by the Ladies Circle. One hundred five dollars was realized from the sale of an album known as a Universalist church, but in 1913 it was felt that this name did not apply and the name was changed to the Newry Community Church. At that time the Union Religious Society of Newry was formed, and that organization still carries on the business affairs of the church.

It is believed that work on the foundation of the church was started in the spring of 1904. The church was finished that summer and dedicated Aug. 31, 1904. On Aug. 29, 1945, a celebration was held for the 50th anniversary with a picnic supper at the church and services in the evening.

P. J. Latchford had charge of the foundation work and Gardner Roberts was boss carpenter. Much of the labor was donated by local men, as well as by some summer guests.

STATE OF MAINE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Karen L. Brown

Largest State Budget Submitted
It now appears that Gov. Brennan's $1 billion budget will be approved without any major revision. On Wednesday of this week, the Senate approved the major part of the Governor's proposed budget without a word of debate. It now will go to the House for consideration. The portion of the budget approved by the Senate is the so-called Part I budget, which provides funds to continue existing government programs. The $1 billion general fund budget, the largest in Maine history, will actually generate more than $2 billion in overall spending after federal and other special revenues are included.

The major debate over budgetary items proposed by the Governor is more likely to come when debate begins on the Part II budget, which includes proposals for new or expanded government programs. Thus, such issues as welfare grants, funding for abortions, property tax relief and legislative pay raises will come later in this legislative session when the Part II budget is considered.

State Employee Pay Raises Still in a Stalemate

After two weeks of debate over state employee pay raises, Senate Republicans are now indicating a willingness to permit the courts to decide the issue which has held up the funding approval. That is whether or not the union clause which requires state employees to join the union, pay a portion of the dues, or be automatically fired is a legal clause under Maine law. Although there seems to be unanimous support for the pay increase, many do not believe that such clauses are legal, and have refrained from giving final approval to the pay raise issue.

Although the Maine State Employees Association has insisted that the so-called "Union Security" clause is not a major issue, it has stubbornly refused to remove this clause from the employee contract. There is wide-spread agreement that without this clause employee pay raises would have been approved overwhelmingly.

Tree Growth Tax Reform

The Committee on Taxation held a public hearing last week on seven bills that seek to alter the existing tree growth tax law. The present law was enacted after a 1971 Constitutional amendment was passed which allowed preferential taxation for forestlands with valuation based upon current use and not fair market value. The 8-year-old law was originally established to keep Maine's forest and timberlands and preserve our forest resources. Since its passage, most towns have been reevaluated and are experiencing difficulties with the lower taxation on forest lands. The tree growth tax law attempts to establish current use values for timberland. Instead of taking market value prices of land transactions for timber production, the law establishes a sophisticated mechanism for estimating the value of annual wood production of land, and from this, the current value of the land itself. Certain aspects of the calculation, particularly the use of stumpage values, capitalization rates, and a sales approach vs. an income approach for setting current use values have been questioned.

At the public hearing, about 175 persons attended to testify on the proposals to change Maine's Tree Growth Tax Law. Several of those to testify were from the Bethel area and came to support my provision to change the penalty clause. The long public hearing ended at 9:30 p. m., after 8 1/2 hours of testimony.

Bill to Make Public Drinking a Crime

Although drinking in a public place is now a civil offense which is punishable by a fine of up to $50, a proposal now being considered would make public drinking a crime punishable by a fine of up to $500 and up to six months in jail. Some committee members at the public hearing expressed concern over the severity of the fine, questioning whether someone who stopped for a family picnic could incur a criminal record for having a beer at a public picnic area. However, supporters of the measure assured that the bill is aimed at groups of persons who congregate in public for the purpose of drinking, or who drink in automobiles.

CARD OF THANKS

Many thanks to all my friends and neighbors for the cards, flowers and beautiful sunshine basket which I received during and following my recent stays at the hospital. PURITY CHAPTER, O. E. S. CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

An observance of the 75th Anniversary of Purity Chapter, O. E. S., Bethel, was held Saturday evening at the Telstar Auditorium. The officers of Purity Chapter and the Grand Chapter were seated, followed by a welcome given by W. M. Sara S. Head.

A presentation of the history of the chapter, compiled by P. M. Helen Morton, was given by Edward Wheeler, Chaplain and Past Patron of the lodge, telling of the founding of the chapter in 1904 in an era of great interest in fraternal organizations. Chapters were established in many small communities where people could attend without traveling far. Constant renewal of the chapter through new members and officers has excelled over the years.

Sara S. Head, Worthy Matron of Purity Chapter #102, O.E.S., of Bethel.

Worthy Grand Matron Amy Coffin addressed the group and congratulated them on their anniversary, followed by Worthy Grand Patron, Calvin Grass.

The invocation and benediction were given by Harriette Freeman, Grand Chaplain. A memorial was read by Barbara D. Brown for Dr. Bryant Bean, who was to have joined the group for the celebration. Dr. Bean died unexpectedly Friday.

Cathy Littlefield and Diane Cross entertained with guitars and singing ballads. They were followed by Rudy and Joanne Royer with music on fiddle and piano.
